Loving notes to boost your child's confidence throughout the year

You can nurture your child's confidence in many ways, especially by showing affection. If they know they're loved and appreciated, they'll feel on top on the world. Here are some sweet notes you can print out and give to your child to mark special days of the year.

Back-to-school:

Be yourself! I love you just the way you are.

Smile!
I carry you in my heart.

Trust yourself. You'll get the hang of it!

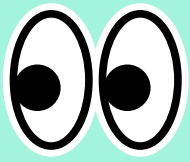

Share a happy moment from your day with me over dinnertime.

Try your best. That's all you can do!

You have everything you need to make new friends.

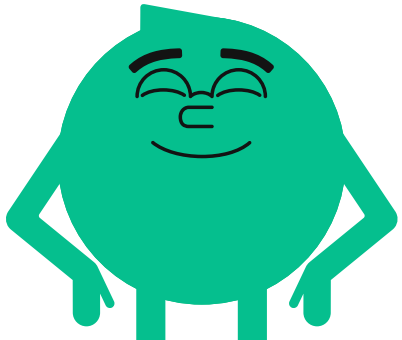

The secret ingredient in your lunch is love!

Dive into your day like you're diving into a pool!

Head to alloprof.qc.ca for more resources.
© Alloprof

alloprof

Loving notes to boost your child's confidence

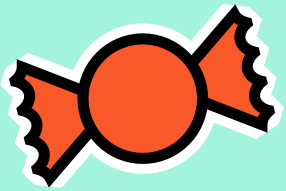

Halloween:

I love you to the bone!

You're a fang-tastic kid!

Spending time with you is sweeter than candy.

You're a clever little monster.
I know you'll do great on your math test!

It's spooky how smart you are!

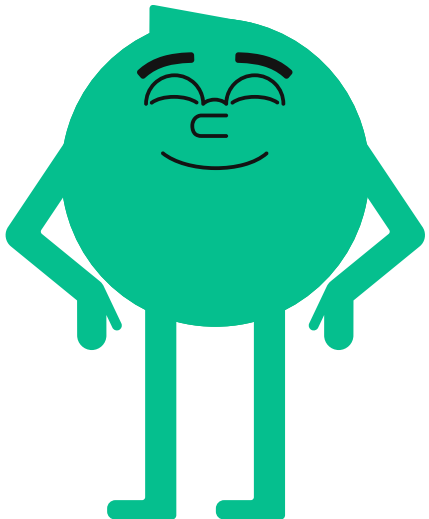

You're my precious little pumpkin!

You're the pumpkin of my eye.

Head to alloprof.qc.ca for more resources.
© Alloprof

alloprof

Loving notes to boost your child's confidence

Valentine's Day:

I love your big heart!

I L-O-V-E you!

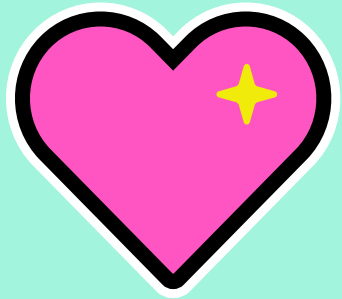

When I think of your smile, my heart melts like chocolate in the sun.

You're my cute little cupid.

There's nothing sweeter than a hug from you.

Like a calculator, you can always count on me.

I love you more than chocolate fondue!

Head to alloprof.qc.ca for more resources.
© Alloprof

alloprof

Loving notes to boost your child's confidence

The holiday season:

Being your parent is the greatest gift of all.

The best gift isn't under the tree it's you!

You shine brighter than a Christmas tree.

You fill me with the holiday spirit.

What's big and red? No, it's not Santa Claus–it's my heart beating for you!

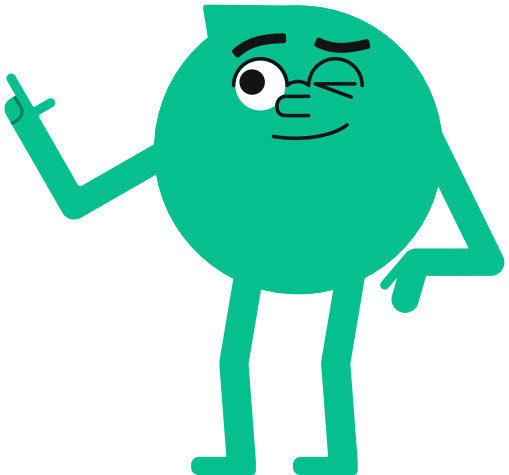

If Santa had a list of the most hard-working kids, your name would be first!

Ho ho ho, I love you so!

All I need is a pair of mittens and your hugs to keep me warm.

Head to alloprof.qc.ca for more resources.
© Alloprof

alloprof

Loving notes to boost your child's confidence

Easter:

You crack me up.

You are my sweetest love.

I'm egg-cited to spend time together–there's no-bunny like you!

I wish you an egg-cellent afternoon!

I love you to the eggs-treme.

I love you more than chocolate!

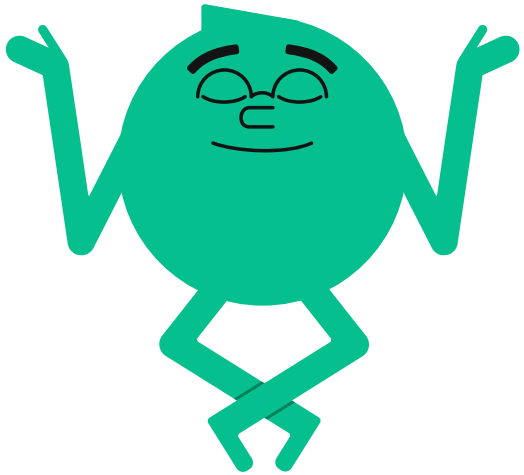

Don't worry, be hoppy!

You shine brighter than the spring sun!

Head to alloprof.qc.ca for more resources.
© Alloprof

alloprof